

Ing. Arch.
MICHAELA RUDOLFOVA

PROFILE

From an Architect to a Frontend developer? Several reasons led me to change my field. I found myself in frontend development. I enjoy learning new technologies and improving the ones I already use. I like the visual environment with the logical and readable code behind.

In conclusion, I enjoy the community of people in IT who are friendly and helping each other. My heart beats for the ReactGirls community, which has been with me since the beginning of my career change.

WORK EXPERIENCE

VS POINT - FRONTEND DEVELOPER

06/2019 – now, Pernerova 635, Prague

I tried what it's like to work in a bigger office. I became part of a team working on a larger development of apartment buildings near Liberec. The most popular project I was working on in the office is the reconstruction of the winter stadium in Opava.

WORKSHOPS

REACTGIRLS / 2020 - now

ReactGirls community accompanies me throughout my new career path. It started with participating in a mentoring program with result in the new ReactGirls website written in React and designed in Figma. In addition to regularly participating in meetups, this year I helped with the Javascript and React coaching of the autumn academy. At one of the meetups, I also gave a lecture on the topic of Work on travels.

CITY DEVELOPMENT 2015

The workshop was focused on development, financing issues, legal aspects and the architectural-urban concept. It pointed to the issue of cooperation between 3 main entities - developers, architects and the city.
